20 Will Get Confederation Scholarships

Any Canadian boy or girl born in July, 1946 is eligible for a $24,000 scholarship.

A boy and a girl from each province born in that month will each receive $3,000 for education and $3,000 for travel each year for four years to celebrate Canada's centennial.

Persons born in July, 1946 will reach 21 in the first month of Canada's second 100 years of Confederation.

Applicants should write to the Canadian Confederation Heritage Foundation, 99 Avenue Road, Toronto 5, Ontario.

The selection board is not looking for bookworms but for "clean-cut, well-adjusted, outdoor types."

The Canadian Confederation Heritage Foundation has been set up as a non-profit and tax-exempt body to administer the half million dollar project.

Besides furthering their own education, the 20 young people will promote centennial year and the Montreal world's fair. The foundation hopes to send them to the White House with invitations to meet the United States President, and then to tour Europe in the summer of 1965 and Latin America the following year.

Carol Festival At High School

The Christmas spirit will be brought home to residents of town and district next Tuesday night when the County Central High School Glee Club again sponsors the Carol Festival at the High School Auditorium.

Soloists, group numbers and choirs of school and churches will take part in the program and everyone will be asked to join in singing of favorite carols.

An addition to the evening this year will be the Vulcan County Band which is expected to perform prior to and during the program.

The band is also planning on again staging its own carol night in which it will play Christmas music at the Peter Dawson Lodge and at the Carmangay hospital on Monday night, Dec. 21.

Nineties Carnival held Nov. 6 and 7. Ladies organizations of the town and district banded together to promote this successful venture. Proceeds went to the Vulcan District Recreation Centre.

Anglican Guild Elects Officers

St. Aldhelm's Anglican Guild met in the Church Hall Nov. 25th with 14 members present. Final arrangements were made for the Annual Christmas Tea and Bazaar to be held Saturday in the Legion Hall. This year the teen-age girls of the Church will be in charge of the tea tables.

Election of officers for the coming year was held and officers elected were: Mrs. Arthur Fitzpatrick, president; Mrs. Stu Joiner, vice-president; Mrs. Ron Buehler, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Pete Schuler, sick committee.

It was decided to cancel the December meeting, and the next regular meeting will be held Jan. 27 at the home of Mrs. Stu Joiner.

The Rev. Cowell reminded the ladies that Monday, Nov. 30th was the World-Wide Anglican Day of Prayer at which time a continuous chain of prayer took place throughout all Anglican Churches in the World. This is St. Andrews Day at which time we remember Andrew brought his brother to Christ and reminds us to bring others to Christ also. The congregation of St. Aldhelms were asked to sign the list on the church bulletin board as to time each could be at prayer so as the chain would be continuous throughout the day. The Rev. Cowell closed the meeting with prayers. Mrs. Florence Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Betty Johnson served a delicious lunch.

Best set of records, Glenda Roth, $10.00 from Grazing Association and 4-H Club. Second in records, Wendy Elliot, $5.00 from the Armada Community Club.

First in showmanship, Bill Thompson, $5.00 from the Birthday Club.

First in grooming, Donnie Maier, $5.00 from the Birthday Club.

First place calf of Lomond from the Lomond Community Club. $5.00 to Donnie Maier. Second place calf, from Lomond Community Club, $5.00 to Linda Maier.

First for the highest number of points from the Good Will Club to Linda Maier. Second highest number of points, by the Good Will Club, $4.00 to Marie Bolduc.

Norm Bell was guest speaker and gave a very interesting address to the 4-H members, parents and friends. Jerry Moffet also said a few words on behalf of the Pioneer Grain Company and their agent, Alex Fraser, who attended the evening.

President Donnie Maier, on behalf of the Lomond 4-H Club, presented his leader with a red pen and pencil set. Clarence Roth said a few words, after which the evening was brought to a close.

The lost is found—to the chagrin of some adults above—so on with the story. Last June the Vulcan section of the Lake McGregor District two-day Camporee headed out of town and into the wilds of Johnston's Creek country, west of Nanton. The photo was lost . . .

Mrs. A. G. Spaeth Taken By Death December 5th

Mrs. Harriet Spaeth, an early resident of the Vulcan district and wife of August G. Spaeth, died in Calgary on Saturday, Dec. 5, 1964. She was 68 years of age. Born at Byron, Michigan, Mrs. Spaeth came to Vulcan in 1914. The Spaeths farmed west of town until retiring to Calgary in 1945 and in 1963 returned to live at Vulcan.

She was a member of the Church of Christ and was active in the work of the handicapped association in Calgary.

Besides her husband she is survived by one son, Howard, at Vulcan; six grandchildren and one great-grandson; five brothers, Elton, Deb and Roy Lilly of Calgary, Grove Lilly at St. Paul, Minn. and Glen Lilly at Vancouver, Wash.; two sisters, Mrs. C. (Alma) Gonyea, Calgary, and Mrs. P. M. (Etta) Clark, Vulcan. She was predeceased by one daughter, Mary. Services were conducted by Rev. M. Bergman on Wednesday, Dec. 9, at 1:30 p.m. at Foster's Chapel on the Hill, Calgary, and interment was in Mountain View Memorial Gardens.

Everett P. Shaver, Assistant Director of public lands in the Alberta Department of Lands and Forests, was recently appointed Provincial Parks Director for the Province of Alberta. Previously Provincial Parks Commissioner, the new appointment will assign more direct responsibility to Mr. Shaver for the planning and development of Alberta's 38 currently established park sites.

Regular Meeting Keystone Class

The Christmas meeting of the Keystone Class was held at the home of Mrs. Donald Smith. The roll call was answered by 23 members and guests. Donations were given to the Bible College and towards the new church carpet. Mrs. Chapman from Lethbridge brought the devotional. The Christmas Story was presented by Ron and Joyce Pelham. A song by Mrs. Gardiner accompanied by Mrs. Lundgren and an instrumental by Mrs. Lundgren were given.

The meeting closed with the opening of the Christmas Pie, followed by a very lovely lunch.

"Ring your own prize" was the call from the ladies at the above booth during the Gay Nineties Carnival held Nov. 6, 7. This is one of several such entertainment alleys aimed at youthful visitors to the carnival.

John Andrews Heads F. & G.

John Andrews, charter member of the Vulcan and District Fish and Game and active on committees every year, became 1965 president of the sports organization at its Dec. 7th meeting. He succeeds Glen Dahl whose service ends with the annual Sportsmen's Night to be held early in the spring.

The positions of vice-president and secretary-treasurer are yet to be filled.

A complaint against use by the County of strychnine pellets rather than "1080" in the control of coyotes was voiced at the meeting. It was claimed the strychnine was deadly to all forms of wildlife while "1080" affected only a limited species including coyotes. This matter will be taken up with County officials.

The addition of four names to those already entered in the hunter-training program brings the list of volunteers to seven. Included now are Joe Main, Ron Brinton, Elmer Wolachaty, Max Kehr, Hartley MacDonald, Bob Hutton and Allan Gehrike.

Named to the banquet committee are John Andrews, Bill Houlton, Glen Dahl and Howie Marshman.

Big game hunting ends this weekend and members interested in having horns measured are reminded that this will be done Saturday afternoon, Dec. 19, at Central Garage. Bill Holton who has organized a bird house competition has requested all youngsters bring their models to the garage that same afternoon so they may be judged.

Two films, Lands Of Bubbling Water and High Arctic were shown. Door prize of a serving tray in sports motif was won by Howie Marshman.

The lost is found—to the chagrin of some adults above—so on with the story. Last June the Vulcan section of the Lake McGregor District two-day Camporee headed out of town and into the wilds of Johnston's Creek country, west of Nanton. The photo was lost . . . until now. No one will say but from the situation shown you get the feeling you can guess which group roughed in under canvas and which group lounged in the convertible and slept between sheets in the trailer. In the pack train left to right are Brian Scobie, Lloyd Sokvitne, Doug Grant, Doug Roe, Dave Warren and Jack Richardson. The four adults, who in serious moments can be given credit for keeping the scout movement together are Ken Houlton, Skeez Christensen, Terry White and Pat Roe.

Santa's On His Merry Way

The first snow of the winter has fallen, colored lights are twinkling downtown, parcels are being wrapped and Christmas plays are being rehearsed. We're in the Yuletide season. All of which means many things to youngsters and of great importance is the annual visit of Santa Claus to Vulcan.

Yes children, Santa has not forgotten and will be back to see everyone on Saturday, Dec. 19, at 2:00 p.m. Four local groups, Lions, Elks, Legion and the Kinsmen Club have banded together to help Santa and if there's snow — and chances are good in this direction — he'll be at his usual spot under the downtown Christmas tree to meet his friends. Plans are being made to have the Christmas tree erected this weekend so all you twentee folk, keep reminding mom of the date, she'll not want to forget!

Bags of candy and treats, a word with Santa and maybe a short sit on his knee awaits each fan on the big day.

Searle Grain Represented

Chamber of Commerce Honors Flax Champion

Harold Hansen of the Ensign has been poured into footings, braces are up and chain holes are drilled from which the display onto Royal Agricultural Winter Fair, was honored locally by Vulcan District Chamber of Commerce members at their December meeting.

Introduced by Vulcan District Agriculturist Clarence Roth were five representatives of Searle Grain Company, donors of the flax trophy; S. A. Searle, Jr., Winnipeg, vice-president; J. L. Fox, Calgary, manager for Alberta; Charles Young, Calgary, divisional superintendent for Alberta; S. A. MacDonald, Calgary, travelling superintendent and Alex Hindle, Vulcan, the local Searle agent.

A framed picture of the trophy was presented to Mr. Hansen by Mr. Searle and Clarence Roth presented him with a $100 cheque from the Department of Agriculture.

In a brief address to the gathering Mr. Searle spoke of the origin of the Searle Grain Company at the turn of the century. At that time the first railroad in the province was known as the Grand Trunk Pacific Railroad. Changes which have taken place through the years were reviewed by the speaker.

A sample of Raja flax taken from an 80 acre field at the farm north-west of Vulcan brought the award to Mr. Hansen. The actual trophy will remain on display in the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair buildings in Toronto. First winner of the trophy in 1962 was R. P. Robins of Shaunavon, Sask. In 1963 the award was won by John Cotton of Kenville, Man.

In other business the subject of the annual agricultural short course was discussed. The chamber has participated in this project in past years and will again cooperate with the department of agriculture in its sponsorship. Clarence Roth said a date in February will be picked.

At the next chamber meeting, Jan. 6, a full report of the Nov. 30 meeting at Red Deer dealing with the Hutterite problem, will be given.

Vulcan's new highway sign, another project of the chamber is nearing completion. It was decided to use steel support poles rather than the originally planned logs as it was feared the latter would quickly rot in their cement foundations. Eight inch steel casting 26 feet (above ground) by 14 feet

The program for 1965 was discussed. It was decided to carry on with the birthday bank, hostess raffle and punctuality draw. It was decided to hold hobo teas through the year. As some of the ladies found it easier to get out in the afternoons instead of evenings the meetings were changed to afternoons at 2:30 p.m. Christmas bags are to be donated and filled for the Sunday School Christmas concert.

At the close of the meeting Christmas gifts were exchanged. Mrs. Tom Daw won the punctuality draw for the year. Mrs. Jack Bushell won the hostess raffle. Mrs. Jessie Lahd conducted a very enjoyable contest and the hostess served a delicious lunch.

Next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Gordon Boyd at 2:30 p.m.

The pains we take often measure the gains we make.

Dr. S. Cornish, chairman of water and sewer committee Claresholm town council, is shown pointing out one of the pertinent points in the airport agreement between the provincial government and the town of Claresholm. Joe Peterson, acting mayor (left) and Ernie Patterson, (right) provincial government representative, signed in the interests of both parties. Signing of the agreement for certain buildings and utilities of the former Claresholm Air base culminates several months of negotiation between, Federal and Provincial departments and the Municipal District of Willow Creek and Town of Claresholm. The Municipality receives buildings, land and runways in the deal. The former air base three miles west of Claresholm will be known henceforth as Willow Creek-Claresholm Industrial Air Field. It is the intention of the town of Claresholm and Municipality to develop the base as an industrial area with emphasis on industry desiring land-lifting facilities.

The couple received many lovely gifts and congratulatory calls from friends and relatives. A lovely cold turkey supper was served, which was enjoyed by all.

Report From Parliament Hill

(By Lawrence E. Kindt M.P.)

Recently there has been an intense debate in the House of Commons concerning the CBC. For years there have been many and varied complaints regarding the administration and programs of the CBC, and now these complaints are receiving a thorough airing in Parliament.

For a number of reasons the operations of the CBC have not been discussed at any length in Parliament for several years, and during recent months the Secretary of State (who answers on behalf of the CBC in Parliament) has refused to answer questions concerning that organization, on the grounds that it is not a Government Department. In theory this is quite correct, but in fact it is ridiculous. The Canadian Taxpayers provide about $100 million a year to maintain the CBC and it seems incredible that M.P.'s cannot make inquiries concerning the operation of the Corporation.

Like the Civil Service Commission, the CBC was set up so that it would be completely independent of "political interference" — and with this anyone would agree, as no one wants a Government-controlled propaganda agency such as one sees in the Soviet Union. On the other hand, the CBC has become so "independent" that it is a complete law unto itself and is not subject to control by anyone. Recently, it has become the custom that when any M.P. (regardless of Party) raises any matter concerning the CBC there are shouts of "political interference". Most M.P.'s are now getting fed up with this nonsense and Canada's Number One Gold-Plated Sacred Cow is now receiving a thorough examination. There is undoubtedly a year to maintain the CBC and waste, extravagance and sloppy administration on a large scale in the Corporation.

A Good Argument

(by C. J. Harris)

The possibility of a better deal for widows under the federal government's estate tax act was announced by Federal Minister Gordon in his recent budget speech. "I was impressed," he told the House of Commons, "with the case made by women's organizations saying that more recognition should be given to the special contribution that a wife makes to the accumulation of property by her husband."

The women's groups have been making a good argument. The tax laws still regard the whole estate of a family as the property of the husband, although women nowadays generally participate to some degree in the accumulation of a family's possessions. Working wives, of whom there are about 900,000 in Canada, usually contribute directly to the acquisition of a home and its furnishings, a small business, a husband's life insurance program or other forms of savings. And, whether or not they are employed outside the home, most wives help to manage and preserve the family's possessions. On that basis it is not unreasonable to argue that some proportion of a deceased husband's property should be entirely exempted from the estate tax.

Another point, not mentioned by the Finance Minister although he must be aware of its validity, is that many a family-owned business passes to foreign ownership because of the estate tax. Accountants, lawyers and trust company officials are on record with the opinion that the high rate of the tax and its peremptory demands — or the prospect of these — often result in the forced sales of small businesses, and that very often the only cash offers are from foreign purchasers. As it now stands, the tax law is unlikely to leave a widow who inherits a small business the money and the time to assume its operation or to arrange an advantageous sale.

Also unmentioned by the minister was the grave injustice of double taxation. If a husband leaves a pension or life insurance annuity to his wife, there is an estate tax on the inheritance at its capitalized value and then income tax is applied to the later benefits.

The Minister of Finance noted that since the estate tax is a shared federal-provincial revenue, any changes will have to be by agreement between Ottawa and the provincial government. It is encouraging that Mr. Gordon hopes that, following the reports of the various commissions now examining taxation problems, such consultations will be held.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Editor, The Advocate

Sir: With the coming of the Huterite folk to the Vulcan area is another visitor. He arrived a short time ago, very quietly, and to some, not unexpectedly. But to the general masses, his coming was uneventful and therefore unnoticed. I nor anyone else knows how he got here or how he found his way.

He has visited with many people though he knocks at no one's door. He has no heart but has touched the hearts of many. He has tainted the spirit of the peoples though we fail to notice his work. He is as creative as the poet; we do not criticize his art.

By now you can see him everywhere — in the street, in the shops, in the schools, in the church, in almost all places — but not with our eyes.

He creates a unique atmosphere that permeates all other atmospheres but we can detect no scent.

He can easily be felt by anyone of us. But he evades our touch.

We can hear him speak at community rallies, service club meetings, and the like, though we know not that it is he that speaks.

Of course, we cannot taste him, but he leaves a foul taste in our mouths.

He is met by little resistance. He has won many over. His victory shows through when the policies of our cash registers and our filing cabinets dominate the policies of our hearts.

His name is hate.

Sincerely,

One of the Earth, like you.

IN MEMORIAM

That was a bit of a poser. The boy thought for a moment. "But we've got used to it," he said.

Dugouts Filled By Diverse Methods

When the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration first began its water development program in 1935, farm dugouts were few and far between. Today they are the most widely used type of water storage structures to be found anywhere throughout the farming and cattle raising areas of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. One of the main reasons for their popularity is their greater versatility which makes them easily adaptable to so many different situations.

Dugouts normally are situated in an area where the water from melting snow will run directly into this depression hollowed in the ground. They may drain fifty, one hundred or any number of acres, and the greater the area they drain, the better the chance of them filling. But they can be filled by other means, such as pumping.

Hec Gervais, who lives one mile east of the town of St. Albert just out of Edmonton, may be better known for his curling exploits than for farming, but he is adept at both. On the farm, Hec and his father raise a large number of chickens. They had 22,000 this fall, and that many chickens require a great deal of water. The Gervais spread is blessed by a creek running through one end of the farm, but pumping water from the creek directly to the chicken house was not practical, nor was it dependable, because when the creek ran dry, it presented a major problem. A call to the PFRA Water Development Office in the area solved the problem quickly. Soil conditions near the chicken house were satisfactory for dugout construction, and one was built. Now water is raised by pump and pipeline from the creek to the dugout twice a year, and a supply of good water is always available.

Other ways that dugouts can be used where water is normally only available for a part of the year, include building the excavation adjacent to a creek bed or on the edge of a slough. These methods have proven successful in areas where alkali is not a problem. A creek that runs only in the spring and is diverted into a dugout, will leave behind 12 to 14 feet of water depending on the depth of the dugout adjacent to the creek bed. By positioning a dugout on the edge of a slough with a low bank or dyke around the inlet end of the dugout, clean water will flow into the dugout when the level of the slough rises higher than the dyke. When the slough dries up, the water in the dugout will remain, fresh and clean.

PFRA personnel are available at twenty water development offices strategically located across the three prairie provinces. They will check soil and topography and otherwise evaluate any suggested project proposed by individual or neighbor farmers. If approved, engineering services may also be made available, together with financial assistance in construction.

BRANT

Mr. and Mrs. W. Wylie and Pat, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Richardson and their boys, and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Crabb, all of Vulcan, were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wylie to help celebrate Dianna's second birthday.

HOME & SCHOOL ASSOCIATION
The regular meeting of the Brant Home and School Association was held on Dec. 2.

A discussion was held regarding the value of Vulcan Home and School Council as presently constituted, and a motion was passed asking the Brant representative to request that it be discontinued. The principal, Mrs. I. Ball reported that the school would close for the Christmas season at noon on Dec. 23 and reopen on Jan. 4.

A Christmas party will be held on the afternoon of Dec. 22 with the Home and School Association arranging for the treats and tree, etc. Anyone wishing to donate money for candy bags may leave donations at the Brant or Ensign stores or with Mrs. Ball at the school before Dec. 20.

The program for the January meeting will be County Night. If you are seeking information on any topic pertinent to this area, a word to program chairman, Mrs. Eva McKay will bring results for you. The guest speaker, E. Hawkesworth, Superintendent of County Schools, spoke on the topic Student Evaluation by Report Cards.

He made reference to two sources of guidance in promotion policy—a 1957 report by a provincial commission which made a study of the subject, and the County School Handbook, revised in 1963, which sets down policy within the county.

These sources advise that the basis for promotion must always be the long-range good of the child. To fail a child because of personality traits, or a certain skill deficiency, or a temporary slump in achievement, may not result in any improvement the following year. Skill deficiencies can be better overcome by remedial processes. Slow learners will profit more by a continuous progress program in which he will cover the work at a slower speed for a division of work.

Parents learned that pupil ratings are based on many records such as narrative records, regular tests by teachers, standardized tests given over large areas, quiz tests, recorded assignment results, and pupil I.Q. tests. All of these are considered by the teachers when recording pupil's achievements. The speaker emphasized that high marks given too easily in lower grades can result in discouragement for pupils when they are rated against others on the "curve" system in grades nine and twelve. The information given by Mr. Hawkesworth was most enlightening to the parents present.

Sociability over the coffee cups brought the evening to a close.

ACCENT ON ACCESSORIES

What does accessory bring to mind — shoes, handbag, a new hat? It means accents for your wardrobe, but also that finishing touch for foods and home decorating.

The dictionary defines the word as "something helpful but not essential". However, we know that it can be as personal as a signature. It's the little extra something that makes an outfit, a dinner, or a room, yours because it expresses your personality.

Make basic costumes versatile by varying the accessories to fit the occasion. A tailored suit with a plain blouse and lapel pin becomes a dressier garment by adding a frillier blouse and a hat with a little more trimming.

Use accessories to complete a definite colour harmony. A scarf in a lighter shade of the garment or a contrasting colour repeating a colour of the costume will add interest.

Have one point of emphasis. A crisp, white collar on a dark dress draws the eyes to the face. A dainty ruffle at the wrist brings attention to the hand. Flowers pinned at the waistline emphasize a tiny waist. Be sure accessories highlight your best features.

Use accessories to soften harsh lines in your costume. A severe line in a tailored dress may be softened by wearing a soft small scarf at the neckline.

Use accessories for a purpose. Ask yourself what the accessory does for you and your appearance. If it has no use in accenting, repeating, decorating or softening to create the appearance for which you are striving, don't use it.

Choose accessories that will harmonize with a number of outfits. Be sure accessories are neat clean and fresh.

Choose your accessories carefully and wear them with a dash. "Fashion is something we buy, but style is what we give the things we wear."
